not the farmer thereby loose a market and conse quently a sale of a portion of his produce? Most certainly; for the more, the higher the tax is upon a foreign article the less will be imported, and of course the less of our own produce it will require to pay for them, therefore every additional tax or duty, cuts off the sale of an equal amount of our own productions. Any one can see this; for if we import a million of dollars worth of silk, we pay for it sending a million of dollars worth of cotton, flour, lumber, or something else of our own producing, that is, it makes a market for a million of dollars worth of something from our own resources. Now suppose we put so heavy a duty upon it that only half a million will be imported, of course a half million of flour or cotton pays for it, and we have the other half million on hand because there is no market abroad. Thus the producer is directly and vastly injured by this or any other tax or duty. As the South produces most, they are more sensitive about a high tariff than any other class of people, and this wild scheme of. Mr Clay, the confident of Harrison, is already receiving the bitter denunciation it so richly deserves, from even those patriotic and consistent Southern "Whigs," who were loudest before the late election in contending against that man whom the "whigs" at the North ridicul-ed and reproached as the "Northern man with Southern principles." Verily they will have their reward in the reproaches of their own consciences —the standard of rebellion is already reared in the all its changes and improvements, thousands of its change and improvements, thousands of its change and subscribers have adhered to it the hour when they were beguiled to oppose Martin Van Buren, the candidate supported by their natural allies, the Democracy of the North. It will not be long before the party that will soon take the leading of Gazarran and Gazarran a helm of Government, if party it can be called, will be known as the party of tariff and taxation. New Era.

A NEW SERIES OF THE NEW-YORK MIRROR: A WEEKLY GAZETTE OF BELLES-LETTRES AND THE FINE ARTS;

Embellished, monthly, with coxily and magnificent Quarto Sicel Engravings, and with the most Popoular and Beautiful MUSIC of the day, arranged for the Piano-forte, Guilar and Harp: containing contributions from Authors of the highest distinction at home and abroad, and designed as an ELEGANT PARLOR JOURNAL and designed as an ELEGANT PARLOR JOURNAL, for all classes of Society.—Monoirs, Biastraphy, Novels, Tales, Foyages, Poetry, Criticism, History, Aits, Scincer, Navatives, Incidents, Adventures, Scenery, Correspondence, Sketches of Society and Manners, Passing Events of the Times, Ancedote and Gossip, the Fashions in Bress, and every other subject within the range of Polite Literature, are embraced in its plan. The whole forming at the end of the year a large quarto volume of 416 imperial pages; being, in respect to Munic, a beautiful accompaniment to the Piano-forte, and, so far us relates to Piales, a charming centre-table ornoment.

EDITED BY GEORGE P. MORRIS.

PUBLISHED BY D. FANSHAW, PROPRIETOR. It has been said, that the American people are fickle in their attachments; that they are fond of change and variety, and willingly part with an old riend for the novelty of a new acquaintance. As far as relates to us, we can unequivocally deny the assertion. It is now more than seventeen years since we, a mere boy at the time, commenced the publication of the New-York Mirror; and, under with a constancy no less flattering to ourselves than

January, 1841. In making this change we are only following the example of many of our cotemporaries, who, after publishing their papers for several years, were under the necessity of adopting this plan, that their subscribers might not thereafter be confused about the beginning and ending of the HE Spring Term of this Institution will commence on publication year. But the more important part of Thursday, the 11th day of Mancu next, under the supering the publication year. our change is, our intention of giving an elegant > have furnished our January plate, we have been under the necessity of sending one only a match to what we have formerly furnished. But having now a number of artists at work, that we may eventually have the plates engraved and printed at least three months in advance, we shall soon be beyond the reach of all disappointment, and send them to our subscribers so well dried and seasoned as to be almost released from fear of their being injured in the mails by carriage. The plates we have now in hand are such as have never been produced in any periodical in this country, and cannot be surpassed in the world; at least so says a number of persons to whom we have shown the twelve already selected; and we have not a shadow of doubt but our subscribers will say the same when they see them, We also intend to give, monthly, a wood-cut representation and description of the latest fashions of Europe. These additions will cost us, exclusive of our present expenses, several thousands of dollars per annum. This arrangement, while it will afford to the eaders of the Mirror more than abundant equivalent for the trifling price at which it is published, (for the plates could not be purchased at the printstores separately for $5, nor could the music be obtained for that amount,) will, we trust, give us such an increase of subscribers as will enable us to proceed with renewed energy, and unflagging industry in the prosecution of our literary labors, and warrant these heavy expenditures of time & money. When we began the publication of the Mirror, there was no work of a similar character in the L farm, situated in Weathersheld, about 100 rods west of Dawner's Tayern, and immediately opposite and adjoining the Upper Falls Manufacturing Company, on Black Rever. Said farm contains about 100 acres of land, which will cut from 23 to 25 tons of hay, and tilings land in proportion-with good and convenient buildings thereon. The sale will commence on the 20th day of March, at 10 clock, P.M. and the premises.

der, in beautifying and ornaments give an conceive gems of the pencil and the pen. Few can conceive the immense amount we have paid for literary and the immense amount we have been the pioneer in almost every thing that has lifted the periodical press of this country from its former to its present position, until, by common consent, the New-York Mirror has been considered as inferior to no literary publication of a similar character in the world,-We some years since, in consequence of our constantly increasing expenses, raised the price to five dollars, and our friends have paid it cheerfully, from a conviction that it is now, and always has been, honestly worth the money. With the last few years a change has come over every thing, particularly the republic of letters. Periodicals have increased in vast numbers, and the adoption of the cash system, and its certain and prompt re-sults, have induced some few publishers to reduce Black Salts, for which a fair price will be given in Goods by O. In thus issuing it a price which would appear to The subscriber has this day purchased all the interest of said Adams in the property of the late firm of Adams & In thus issuing it a price which would appear to all acquainted with the subject, not sufficient to definy its current expenses of print and paper, we do fray its current expenses of print and paper, we do not contemplate the least diminution in the interest and value of the publication, editorially considered. On the contrary, it will contain LITERARY ARBY TILES OF INTENSE INTEREST; and every exserion will be made to furnish the most fashionable, choice, and popular MUNIC; and no pains or expense will be spared to sustain its present high litterary character, and to keep it at least in the foremost rank with the most popular periodicals in this country or Europe. We even expect in this respect to surpass our furner efforts, as the Editor will be released from all the cares connected with the business and financial department, which has

Amos Kannall, proposes to establish a semi-monthly syspaper under the above name, to be devoted to the follows begs leaves to call the attention of the public to the same. this stove is beyond deady more economical and convenient than any other constitute stove in use. It is convenient, by cause of its peculiar construction, and economical, for the reason that it will save three fourths of the face ine essary to be consumed in other stoves, in order to do an equal amount of cooking. It contains two overs of large dimen sions, which can in an instant have the temperature so chan ged by dampers, as to be adapted to baking or rossing the most delicate as well as the coarsest food. The boiling dedepartment is perfect in every point of view. Six boilers can be used at a time, The broiling department is a constructed, that the smoke is not suffered to pass into the room, being conveyed directly into the stove. Owing to the peculiarity of the principles upon which this stove erates, none of the heat from the fire chamber is suffered to erates, none of the near from the art channes is somered to pass directly into the pipe, while all the coldest air in the stove is so discharged. This is done by an air chamber forre-rarefying the air and smoke after it has parted with its heat and, in such a manner, as to produce a very strong draught —thus all the heat generated must be applied to some prac-tical surcose.

In proof of the above, I have connected with this advertisment, the following certificates from gentlemen of undoubted character who are now using the stove in this vicinity.

The stoves will be kept constantly on hand and for sale by.

TITUS HUTCHINSON JR.

Woodstock, July 14th 1840.

Dear Sir.—I have used one of your Cooking Stoves, in my family for some time past. The Stove is all that you have recommended it to be and I feel it my duty to state that I consider it one of the most important inventions within my knowledge. Being simple in construction and convenient in form I deem it to be a durable, and well calculated. lated Stove. From the fact that I believe it would save the lated Stove. From the fact that I bettere it would save toprice of the Stove in fact in one year in addition to the many conveniences which this stove possesses over all oth er stores in use, I have no besitation in recommending it in pecuniary point of view to every one, whether they already have or have not other stoves. PAUL HOWE.
Woodstock, Vt., June 14th 1810.

This certifies that I have used S. L. Chave's Cooking Stove for all the purposes of cooking Washing &c usual in families and find it to be the most comomical and convenient cooking stove which I have ever used or seen and from excooking stove which I have ever used or seen and from experiment I find that it requires no more than one fourth of the increexacy to be consumed in any other cookstore which I have used or seen calculated to do on equal amount of cooking. The overs of the stove surpass my thing of the kind in use they bake and roust admirably well. In a word the stove is without a fault and I would most confidently recommend it to all persons in want of stoves.

Woodstock Vt., July 15th 1840.

Mr. Chase,—Sir. After having used your cooking store, No.2, in my family for a sufficient time to have fully satisfied myself of its usefulness; I am prepared to express my opinion that it is preferable to any Country Store or which the fame Anoutheless. The saving of fuel, the amount of business that may be accomplished by it, the uses of which the hearth is susceptible, and all its advantages to ken together, render it, in my estimation, DECIDELY SUPERIOR TO ANY ONE NOW IN USE.
